

THE FACE OF UROGYNECOLOGY

Nearly one out of every four women have a pelvic floor disorder, including pelvic pain, urinary incontinence, pelvic organ prolapse, chronic constipation, endometriosis and fecal incontinence — and the problem impacts every part of their lives. Dr. Costas A. Apostolis and his skilled team at Summit Urogynecology can help those with these issues improve their quality of life. They provide individualized treatment that eliminates embarrassment and uncomfortable situations caused by these common women's health issues.

Dr. Apostolis has been serving patients in Akron since 2012 and has treated over 5,000 women with pelvic floor conditions throughout Summit County and Northeast Ohio. He specializes in minimally invasive techniques and is double board certified in obstetrics and gynecology and female pelvic medicine and reconstructive surgery, of which he is also fellowship trained. Improving pelvic floor health begins with an evaluation by a specialist. Dr. Apostolis and his team offer a comfortable and private atmosphere to provide education and care so patients have the tools they need for the best possible outcome.
